IN 2004, THE MOST RECENT YEAR REPORTED, there was less difference that ever between the percentage of men and women in the labor force. One notable difference? Men’s participation peaks in their 30s. For women, out-of-home employment steadily grows from age 20 to age 50.

Source: U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics